● Never mind the time changes, it's quite something keeping up with the cast changes in Doctor Who. Soon the Doctor will have three young companions – Matthew Waterhouse, who's already helping out, is to be joined by two girls.

No sooner will Romana have disappeared than in comes Myssa of Traken, a teenager of noble birth with 'an abiding belief in the goodness of all things'. It's a big break for actress Sarah Sutton.

Then a few weeks later the new team is completed by a rather bossy modern-day air hostess, Tegan, played by Australian Janet Fielding.

And we'll have just got used to all of them when the Doctor himself does a switch and Peter Davison takes over as the fifth and youngest Doctor Who.
